

6516205109.txt

competition and profit should not influence the progression of innovation and technology. certain people appreciate the features of this certain product. the money that is paid by consumers for all products and this one in particular should have the 100% customer satisfaction in every way possible. and this is one piece of satisfaction that this particular group of consumers should have regardless of anything else.